

CHILDREN'S HOSPITALS WEEK 2021

Remote and Hybrid Models

Jenine Rabin

Executive Vice President, Johns Hopkins All Children's Foundation

"Sorry I'm late. I tripped over a laundry basket on the way to my computer."

CartoonStock.com

Carl receives the dreaded call to return to in-person work.

CartoonStock.com

Survey Results

Current State

Future State

- More than 55 percent of people surveyed by the consulting firm PwC late last year said they would prefer to work remotely at least three days a week after the pandemic recedes. But their bosses appear to have somewhat different preferences — 68 percent of employers said they believed employees needed to be in the office at least three days a week to maintain corporate culture.— New York Times, March 3, 2021

Considerations

- Culture
- Morale
- Environment/Space Constraints/Equipment
- Competitive Advantage
- Metrics/Goals
- Job roles and responsibilities
- Transportation

Discussion

